Continuation of Substance of Interview including description of the general nature of what was agreed to if an agreement was reached, or any other comments:

The metes and bounds of the limitation "a first circuit to detect an exact convergence point subsequent to said branch location in said program" was discussed in the context of Chou. The Examiner noted that, since an exact convergence point, as described in the Applicant's specification, is a specific type of convergence point and Chou detects all convergence points (which are referred to in Chou as first control independent instructions), Chou detects exact convergence points. The Applicant inquired as to whether an amendment to the claim indicating exclusive detection of exact convergence points as described in the Applicant's specification would overcome Chou. The Examiner noted that such an amendment would overcome Chou as used in the current rejection.
